About Kanaksaila

Kanaksaila, a Unit of Porosh Eldercare Pvt. Ltd., owes its physical existence to the tastefully designed home where the legendary Management Guru Late S.K. Chakraborty (IIM Calcutta) and his wife Chhanda Chakraborty till their last days.

It is worth-sharing an anecdote. At the time of bhumi poojan a fistful of soil from the panchawati of Dakshineswar was used for laying the foundation stone and havan at the time of grihapravesh was performed by Late Swami Yuktananda of Vivekananda Nidhi. Naturally, the home offers an intensely serene and spiritual vibe.

It is in Prof. Chakraborty and his wife's memory that it has been decided that Porosh should dedicate this dwelling in South Kolkata as an eldercare home.

Kanaksaila means 'Mountain of Gold'!

Why Kanaksaila ?

In the recently concluded Kolkata Literary Fest (2024) the former Governor of RBI – Dr. Raghuram Rajan – had observed that for India to be a developed country by 2047 education and healthcare are going to be the primary drivers. (Source: The Economic Times, January 27, 2024). Thus, Kanaksaila is going to be Porosh's humble contribution towards building a healthy nation by focusing on mental and physical well-being the latter.

Kanaksaila offers a comprehensive assisted living facility which is inclusive of personalized care, meditation room, free WiFi, library, garden for physical activities etc.
